Game Thrills ROCKMAN

Mastertronic

Meet Rockman — an underevolved little Troglodyte who likes a good gobble! (Fnarl) And he likes nothing more than gobbling mushrooms, and lots of them. The mushrooms proliferate throughout the network of caves that Rockman lives in — a pretty idyllic lifestyle, all things considered, except for the smiling faces. Though of a jolly grimace, these vaguely intelligent spritettes spell death for Trog if they touch him. After all, smiling faces have to eat too, and they don't like mushrooms, so Troglodytes have to do as munchies for the faces.

No death-o-zap laser gun for Rocky, because living in the Stone Age all that has been invented is the hammer. Bashing any of the rocks with his mallet causes them to instantly crumble or fall to the ground, depending on what is beneath. If Troglodyte eats all the Mushrooms on one screen, he's instantly transported onto the next screen where another feast of mushrooms is laid before him, which he just has to eat.

With spritely vigour he can run along, and drop off, the ledges of rocks that make up the majority of the maze. Also part of the cave interior are the vertical red zoom tubes, which allow him to scamper up an down between levels.

Though some people like to take time over their lunch, Rockman doesn't, and actually needs to consume all the mushrooms on screen within a time limit.

Rockman features 20 levels, and after completing five you're given a password. So, when you begin a new game, you input the password and skip the five levels. Five lives are given to Rockman to stuff himself silly, one being lost for every ill encounter with a cave nasty.

ROCK AND (CONT) ROL

Rockman is controlled by the user-defined keys or Kempston, Cursor or Sinclair joysticks. And to get you started, here are four clues to the four four-letter passwords. If you can solve the clue, you'll know the passwords!

1. A gemstone with black and white bands
2. A Hindu or Sikh religious leader
3. A Herb with grey/green leaves and purple, white or blue flowers, could also be a wise old man
4. A slender, sharp, curved nail on an animal's toe

REWARD

If you've written a game you think is dead good, why not share the experience with the Speccy world? Send it along to us on cassette or disk with a letter explaining the game, and if it passes this reviewers' test, we'll put it on the Power Tape, so thousands can enjoy it. Not only that, we'll give you lots of money! Send your creations to:

POWER TAPE DEPT., CRASH, PO Box 10, Ludlow, Shropshire SY8 1DB. Give us 28 days, and we'll tell you what we think of it!!! More power to your programming!

(Please note: the phrase 'lots of money' means what we term as lots of money, not your idea of lots of money — i.e. not about ten quillion pounds in used notes please).

GRUMPY GUMPHREY SUPER SLEUTH

Gremlin Graphics

'A're you free, Mr Gumphrey? I'm free!! Welcome to Mole Bros Department Store, a store of huge proportions, and in which Grumpy Gumphrey: SuperSleuth works.

Poor old Grumpy Gumphrey is definitely the department store's dogsbody. Apart from the fact that he is supposed to be guarding the shop's stock from marauding thieves (he is the Store Detective after all), Grumpy is also set a whole variety of tasks by the mean and moody manager. In between shooting mad, rampant ducks on the ground floor, Grumps has to make tea for his ungrateful boss and cope with a whole host of minor and major emergencies in the store.

Each task has to be completed within a time limit — gamelime is relentlessly ticked off by a digital display at the foot of the screen. Failure to complete a task in time, results in a summons from the manager. Once summoned, Grumpy has to make his way to the Manager's Office within half an hour to receive a warning letter. If he fails to arrive in time, he gets the boot.

The store is crowded with shoppers (and the odd toy soldier), who mill around, manically getting in Grumpy's way as he tries to complete his tasks. If any of the characters other than the harmless hippy bump into him, Grumpy is pushed about and may be knocked off his feet — in which case he sits down. While he is sitting down, Grumpy gets closer to his next warning letter.

A bar at the bottom of the screen indicates how close Grumpy is to his next warning — as it gets shorter another missive gets closer. Four letters, and he's out of a job.

A horizontal message area at the bottom of the screen displays the latest order from on high and is used to remind Grumpy of the next task he needs to complete in order to survive the day.

There's a variety of objects scattered throughout the store which can be used to help Grumpy in his chores. To pick up an object, Grumpy has to be moved up to it and the pick up key pressed.

whereupon the object is transferred to his pocket — an area at the bottom right of the screen. Once an object has been picked up it can be dropped, used or knocked out of Grumpy's hands by jostling shoppers.

And for all budding Sleuths out there, here are some tips to get you started: You can get the tea cup in the canteen by collecting the box and putting it in front of the table where the tea is. Then walk forward (ie: up) onto the box to pick the tea up. If you find the skateboard, Grumpy can use it to get around the store faster.

GRUMPY'S CONTROLS Keys are:

P up L down
Space fire D drop/pick up
T re-read message
S scroll objects.
Alternatively Sinclair and Kempston sticks can be used.

Adventure Challenge! The Ket Trilogy Part 2

TEMPLE OF VRAN

Curse! Blast the man who framed you with a murder you never committed! And above all may hell swallow Vran Verusbel and Delphia (although, that's your job...)

If they didn't send their armies into the lands of Ket, killing and plundering, you wouldn't be on this mission. Mind you, the executioner would have got you. Undertaking this mission to kill the Priest King Vran and his High Priestess Delphia is the only hope of life the Lords of Ket have offered, so you volunteered. They don't entirely trust you though, do they. Why else attach an assassin bug with poison fangs on your neck? Yes, little Edgar is going to make sure you remain the hero. He's been quite helpful too, full of information on all you've met and more.

Exhausted, you've made it to the far side of the Mountains of Ket. You're weighed down by all you've collected on the way: a suit of armour, sword, and a magical ring. Passing the final guardian, that huge Zombie would have been impossible without them, and the wand of course. But that's gone. Just as you were making that last dash towards the chink of daylight and freedom, the Zombie snatched it, and rolled a huge boulder into the tunnel behind you. No way back.

TEMPLE OF VRAN

Your mission now is to reach the Temple. Once there you will hopefully succeed in destroying its evil occupants. You've been told the Temple is found somewhere to the east, although probably not on a direct route. Again, many items you come across on your travels should be of help. Better not waste any, or bitter regrets will follow. But then, you know that already...

PLAYING THE ADVENTURE

When entering commands use a Verb/Noun combination. You'll be told if your command is not understood, or if you're trying something impossible. Here are a few sample commands: Get sword, prepare sword, throw cane, climb down, go east. Additional special commands: Inventory: Lists objects you have with you and shows your prepared weapon.

Stat: shows your current condition.

Score: how well are you doing?

Beep: turns off the Speccy keyboard beep.

Help: May be useful. Look: redescribes your present location.

Quit: ends the game.

Commands may be abbreviated: Inv: Inventory, N: North, U: Up, etc..

Your statistics measure your current condition: Prowess, Energy and Luck. These are used in combat. You'll be told your statistics at the beginning of the adventure, and they may be checked at any time using Stat. The higher the better...

HOW TO FIGHT

To enter combat you must have a prepared weapon. Find out by typing Inv. If you have, one of your weapons will be in inverse video, this is your prepared weapon. To change weapon type Prepare XXX (whatever weapon you want).

If you get into a fight a special combat screen will be displayed. It shows your abilities and (thanks to Edgar) those of your foe. Combat is split into a number of rounds, ending when one of you dies or flees. Each round your prowess and that of your opponent is compared. The higher of the two has more chance of hitting the opponent, but even low prowess may hit! A hit decreases the opponent's energy, and total loss of it means death. You get a chance to dodge, but Luck is needed. Don't let it run out!

SAVING AND LOADING

You may save your present position at any time to continue later. Enter SAVE, type in a filename and start record. Press a key and the game will save in two short parts. To LOAD a previously saved position, LOAD the main program, type LOAD (enter), then play your data tape. You'll be told when loading is complete, and off you go from where you were!

PLAYING THE TRILOGY AS A WHOLE

Although you can play each part separately, there is the added thrill of solving the quest as a whole. Complete part one, then simply insert the next tape into your player and press play. The computer will preserve your current condition to take with you into this next part.

HINTS

Don't leave anything useful in a different time zone — you may not be able to return! Draw a map as you go.

SCEPTRE OF BAGDAD

from Atlantis Software

Ah, those Arabian Nights, eh? Genies, flying carpets, silly pointy slippers and other Turkish delights; you'll find them all in this amazing cartoon arcade adventure from Atlantis.

Sultan Caliph is having a spot of bother. On the first day of each year he must wave the 'Sceptre of Bagdad' at the local peasants to remind them he's the boss, and anyone who disagrees gets their head lopped off.

However, this year the Caliph has woken early, feeling decidedly strange. After a quick bodily perusal he discovers that he has shrunk to tiny proportions. Desperately, he climbs from his bed and clambers up to the Magic Lamp sitting upon his dressing table, and consults the Genie.

Genie tells Caliph that he's the victim of a spell, cast by a wicked wizard. The Caliph's home has now been turned into a puzzlesome palace of shark infested rivers, burning deserts and seemingly impenetrable barriers.

The Sceptre is at the far end of the palace, and if it is not reached within the ordained time the Caliph's reign will come to a premature end.

The corpulent ruler can move left and right, jump upwards and pass through doors and other entrances. Objects found en route are collected by simply walking over them. Only two objects can be carried at once, the last acquired being displayed at the bottom of the screen. An inventory of items carried is accessed by pressing the space bar.

Sections of the palace and its grounds can only be crossed if the Caliph is in possession of certain objects — the coconut is needed to cross the desert, but the sling and pearl are first required to get the coconut!

If all of this wasn't bad enough, the poor Caliph finds that his palace has been infested by vicious creatures and monsters. Should these beasts touch him, the podgy ruler's life force is diminished until he eventually loses one of his three lives.

A reincarnation potion is hidden in the palace, saving the player's position when drunk. This position can then be returned to by selecting the 'Old Game' option on the main menu.

CALIPH'S CONTROLS

Keyboard controls are definable; you need left, right, up, down, and a select key. If you're happier waggling a stick of Bagdad then you'll need a Kempston, Cursor, or Sinclair.

DELIGHTFUL TURKISH TIPS

This should get you approximately one quarter through the game. Nick will print further tips in later issues. Won't you Nick?

First of all, take the FLUTE and leave the HANKY in the starting room, then keep going left until you reach the Air Bagdad platform. Jump onto this to fly across the river. Then go to the tower, enter, walk to the pile of rope to go up. Go right and jump up to the bird which ends up in a nest. Leave the FLUTE, pick up the WINGS and jump up across the nest until you are on top of a balcony. Keep on walking and allow the bee's nest to fall. The bee does not harm you.

You should now have a MINERS HAT AND SEVERAL WINGS. Take the WINGS across the river and go left until you get to a statue of an archer. Jump up the steps until the statue flies off. Return over the river to pick up the KEYS and leave the WINGS there. Take the MINERS HAT to the room with the BEACHBALLS and KEYS.

Jump up the stairs and turn right. When you're inside, walk right and keep on going right to get rid of the nagging lady and to open the wardrobe. Slide down the banister, jump on the table and grab the ALI-BABA BOOK. Go back up the stairs and grab the FIRE RING, leaving either the HAT or the KEYS. Don't drop the BOOK. Go left, press the key used for going through doors, slide down the banister again, go left to Air Bagdad, fly to the other side, go where the statue used to be and jump to the top.

POKEMANIA GALORE!!

Don't forget all those cool POKES on your Mega Power Tape! Nick Roberts tells you all about them and the light fantastic in his tips on page 31. Check it out!

Ugh. Summer is all very well, as long as I'm left in peace in the garden. But sadly one has to take a trip into Ludlow for the shopping and sifting through the month's mail bag. Why sadly? Well, it is tourist time in Ludlow. OAPs, Birmingham bus tours and Americans arrive by the coach load, creating havoc in the streets. Actually, did you know that Ludlow is considered the fifth most important place to visit in England by the American guide books? That's as maybe, but here's the first most important place to visit in CRASH — Live Circuit!

OUTLAWED DONGLE

Dear Lloyd,
After seeing Romantic Robot's recent ads for the Multiface add-on, which is to be banned under the new copyright act, I wonder if this is really fair. I have used my Multiface 3 on my Plus 3 to transfer tape software onto disk, and it's a very valuable utility. But it appears Romantic Robot have had to stop selling it because it can be used to aid pirates. To my knowledge any software I back-up using the Multiface cannot be used on another Spectrum — you have to have the Multiface for it to work. Will I really be breaking the law next time I use my Multiface to back-up software?
Adrian Hunt, Worcester.

The answer, under the Copyrights, Designs and Patents Act 1988, which came into force on August 1, is a most definite YES. You now have absolutely no legal right to copy/back-up a piece of software in any form. Though, I suspect, you wouldn't end up in court over taking what is really just a sensible move. In the case of the Multiface, it's against the law to advertise them as copying devices — though it seems it's alright saying it is a back-up utility. The Act doesn't really make it clear enough, and as yet there are no previous cases to act as pointers. We'll have to wait and see. Obviously this is going to be a topic that takes over the forum soon — so get your opinions in as quickly as possible if you want to see your views in print. LM

NO PLAYS LIKE HOME

Dear Lloyd,
I have often wondered how much games playing and computer use the CRASH team do at home. Could you please find out if they have Spectrums at home and buy games to play on them like the rest of us, or do they just play the review copies all the time?
David Waters, Middlesbrough

Live Circuit

To tell the truth David, after a hard day's slog over a hot Speccy, most of the rabble don't want to see a computer again until the morning. But, tucked away at home the team do have their own faves and they are: Nicko has a Speccy and a Vic 20 and is saving up for an Amiga, Mike stays faithful with just a Speccy, Richard has an Amstrad PCW 8256 and occasionally a Spectrum (though it usually ends up back at the Towers when the office ones die), he's also rumoured to have an Amstrad CPC, though he says he gave it away. Oli doesn't own a speccy at the moment, though he wants one to play adventures on, but does have a small Apple Macintosh (just to show everyone else up). I have a Hermes and a cat, but they're not computers.
LM

Dear Lloyd,
Like the new look, but whatever happened to the personal ratings at the bottom of each reviewer's comment? I think this was important, because then you knew precisely what each reviewer thought. I hope you will put them in from now on.
Simon Dibbs, Warwick

£40 OF SOFTWARE MUST BE WON!!

Don't forget the Letter of the Month wins £40 of software! I haven't awarded a prize for a while because there hasn't been one worth it. So let's hear it from YOU! We want your opinions on any Speccy subject, especially the new Copyright law. Send your missives to LLOYD MANGRAM'S FORUM, CRASH, PO Box 10, Ludlow Shropshire SY8 1DB. And sorry, but I can't answer any requests personally — I've got enough to do as it is!

Okay, they back! How's that for supply and demand?
LM

PASSWORD

Dear CRASH,
I am the only one with a computer in our house. The problem is I write my diary on it and save it — and then my brothers load it up and read it all! It's not fair. If you could help me I would be very pleased. What I would like to know is what program I need, so you have to enter a password to get into the diary. Could you help me please?

Laura Powey, Portland, Dorset.

Sorry Laura, I don't know of anything you can buy like that. If there are any readers that could help Laura, send in your suggestions.

FOOTBALL KEERRRRRAZY!

Don't look now, but there's another football game coming your way soon! Eeeek! This time it's Manchester United — The Computer Game, and it comes from Krisalis, the software house set up by programming team Teque.

The game is expected to feature a full club management system and a realistic football game. The player can be the manager of Man Utd, the star player or the aspiring (or should that be perspiring) player manager. It's a while off yet, but we'll bring you a full preview soon, before the game's release date in November.

BUSTING AGAIN

Activision have snapped up the rights to Ghostbusters II, the sequel to one of the most popular films of the decade. The film opened on 16 June in the States and grossed $10 million on its first day!

Mind you, the original Ghostbusters game did jolly well itself, and has sold over 2 million copies!!!

Force Field, the programmers who wrote Time Scanner, are working on the Ghostbusters II game which is planned to have four different arcade scenarios. Activision are pitching this as one of their smash hits for Christmas alongside Power Drift and Galaxy Force II.

Ghostbusters II, from Columbia Pictures, opens in the UK in December. Don't call us — we'll call you.

UNCLE SAM'S

COUPE COLUMN

Yipeee! The launch of the new 'mega-Spectrum' will be upon us soon - yup, MGT's SAM COUPE is nearly up and running. From now on we'll be taking a look at the final developments of the new machine. Next month we'll be taking a trip to MGT to peruse the Coupe's capabilities, but for now here's what the beast will be offering:

★ The Sam Coupe has four modes of operation. Mode One is normal Spectrum mode, so it'll do everything a Speccy does, but a hell of a lot faster! Mode Two is an advanced Spectrum mode and does away with any attribute clash on games loaded in. Mode Three is an 80 column text mode, very useful for word processing and the like. And the fourth mode is where the Sam really comes into its own: 64 colour mode, 256 x 192 resolution, and all 64 colours can be on-screen at once, as long as there are only 16 colours in one horizontal line.

★ To make full use of Sam's graphic capabilities Bo Jongeborg, creator of the Fairlight duo of games, has written a graphics utility especially for Sam.

★ Music to blow your brains! SIX channel sound, in stereo, eight octaves with 256 tones per octave. Using full envelope and amp control, Sam can play some decent music!

★ Apparently, it will be very easy to convert new Speccy games to run on Sam using the Programmer's Development System written specially for Sam!

★ Mel Croucher is writing the quick-start user manual, and cartoon artist Robin 'Mercy' Evans is living it up with humorous scrawls!!!

★ The custom chip is back from Japan and ready for duplication!!!

★ The Sam isn't finished yet. We'll bring you the full report — properly — when it is. Unlike some other Spec mags

You can contact MGT on the special Sam Coupe Hotline on 0792 791 275, or for written details write to: MGT, Lakeside, Phoenix Way, Swansea SA7 9EH.

NOT ANOTHER JOYSTICK!!

It's another joystick! And this little beauty is called the QS-118 Wizmaster (But you can call me Whizzy). It comes from Spectravideo, makers of the incredibly popular QuickShot II, and features three different control mechanisms, push button, thumb and finger control, two different sized levers, two fire buttons, auto fire button and computer system select button. Rumour has it that a kitchen sink will feature in later versions.

Out now, and a snip at £11.95.

A CHUM FOR YOUR DISKDRIVE - THE PLUS 3 DISKMATE!!!

Just because MGT are busy constructing Sam, it doesn't mean they're going to rest on their proverbial laurels. No sir! For here is another spectacular utility from the Welsh wizards - the +3 Diskmate.

It's a piece of utility software running in +3 basic and adds a myriad (well, seven) useful commands to the disk driver. There's BFORMAT which is a formatting routine giving an 80 track, double-sided double-density disk with 760K of space; DRVUSR a small routine to change the user area and drive default mode; CATALL sends a complete catalogue to the screen or printer; HEADLOADER allows the modification of file types; HEADCOPY reads a cassette based program's header and informs you if it can be transferred to disk - if it can it lobs the program onto disk; BOOT forces the +3 into a reset within a program, and READER is a disk header reader which copes with any file type.

It sounds jolly useful to us and comes on a disk costing £19.99 from MGT direct.

THIS LOOKS LIKE A JOB FOR THUNDER KNIGHT!!

Titus, who brought you the excellent Crazy Cars II, have just announced a new arcade combat game called Knight Force. Playing a mean looking, sword wielding, hero — The Knight of Thunder — your quest is to enter the time warp (it's just a jump to the left, and a step to the ri-i-i-ight and past the pond...) and battle through five different time zones, including prehistoric, medieval and present day.

Knight Force features 25 levels in all, with 'graphically outstanding' backdrops of the periods, and enemies such as gnomes (?!), dinosaurs, skeletons, ghosts and an assortment of mystical creatures. 'Fast action and ultimate gameplay make Knight Force the unprecedented creation in the history of computer games' (hem hem), it says on this piece of Titus paper. Do we believe them? Do we hell. But the proof of the so-called pudding is in the eating, eh viewers?

SUPER DRAGON SLAYER:

Hello, Supes here. Look, awfully sorry about this, but it looks like I've only just been released, although the reviewing blighters featured me in issue 65. I'm from CodeMasters Plus, come on two cassettes, and cost £7.99! Pity I'm only worth 57% really.

IT'S THAT BLIMMIN' FORCE AGAIN!!

It most certainly is, and any moment now Domark are releasing The Star Wars Trilogy. It's a three game compilation featuring the coin-op conversions of Star Wars, The Empire Strikes Back and Return Of The Jedi from the Atari arcade machines.

The trilogy is Domark's first ever compilation and it retails for £14.99 on cassette and £19.99 on disk.

Commenting on the pack, Domark's Marketing Foxtress Clare Edgeley said: 'Gerrrowl, snurffilem, roooowwrr...'. But then, she was doing her Chewbacca impression at the time.

DON'T MYTH OUT ON OFFICIAL SECRETS!!!

There's a fab new adventure doing the 'rounds' at the moment; it's called Myth, written by Paul Findley of Magnetic Scrolls. It's reviewed this issue and is a... find out for yourselves!

But you can't buy it, nope, it's free!! As long as you join Official Secrets that is.

Official Secrets is a smashing and jolly useful adventure club run by Tony Rainbird who started Rainbird Software years ago. Club membership costs £22, and for that you get Confidential, a regular 32 page magazine which mainly deals with adventures, but also covers simulations and role playing games.

Plus a copy of Myth on +3 disk (if you don't own a +3 you receive the Supreme Challenge compilation), and a copy of Gnome Ranger from Level 9 (if you have it already, you receive Captain Blood). And you get access to the Official Secrets Helpline, where they can solve any adventure problem.

And (gosh! what a lot!!!) there's free membership to Special Reserve (normally £5), another club, which offers members games at very cheap prices!!

Official Secrets has nearly 3,000 members already and is looking for more. Write to Official Secrets, PO Box 847, Harlow, CM21 9PT for details. A wonderful service and no mistake!!!

IT'S A LIGHT GUN FROM CHEETAH!!

It's just like the number 63 bus — you wait years, and then three turn up at the same time! Or rather, two — and we're talking about Light Guns (which have no resemblance to buses really).

After Sinclair's efforts to bring a new age of gaming to our itchy trigger fingers with the Magnum, Cheetah (peripheral producer of old) hit back with the Defender, a another new light gun, which should be released in September retailing around £25, £5 cheaper than the Magnum.

Cheetah are producing the hardware side of the Defender, which is planned to have a more realistic gun look to it than the futuristically shaped Magnum, and CodeMasters have the job of producing six quality games exclusively for the Defender. Yet to be seen, the titles are: Super Trans-Am, Bronx St Cop, Harrier Attack (a working title, expect something like Mig-29), Billy The Kid (a wild west shoot out game), Jungle Warfare (again a working title, looks a bit like Green Beret), and Advanced Pinball Simulator.

Top engineers at Cheetah have been working on the design and hardware for a year, with special attention paid to the finer details like weight, trigger balance and precision accuracy to make the gun's 'feel' just right.

Next month we'll be bringing you the full details, with news of the six CodeMasters games plus a smashing competition, where you can win FIFTY - 50! — Defender light gun packs from Cheetah. If you want to get more information, contact Cheetah on 0222 555525 or at Norbury House, Norbury Road, Fairwater, Cardiff CF5 3AS.

INTO AFRICA

TUSKER

Africa! Vast, mysterious, savage and unexplored: a continent that has lured explorers and adventurers since time immemorial with its promise of lost treasures and riches. Join Richard Eddy as he sips the jungle juice and sets out with Tusker, the hero of System 3's sprawling epic, in search of the fabled Elephants' Graveyard...

Do you reckon he's taking the pith (1) this Tusker bloke? But of course! He's taking his pith helmet, maps, and all the useful clues he can get his hands on to help him locate the legendary Elephants' Graveyard and all the lost treasure that locating it brings.

Tusker was never an explorer, but his father was — a man who went into unmapped territories of Africa charting the regions as he went. Sadly on his last expedition, just before reaching the Elephants' Graveyard Tusker's father died. But the family destiny continues, and now it's Tusker's turn to finish the expedition.

Tusker's African adventure begins in the desert. A barren landscape offers little help and much danger when infested with warrior nomads. Our hero, well you actually, enters the desert unarmed, and must therefore waste no time in procuring himself a weapon. Capturing one of the nomads' sabres is a good start, but there's more to this game than fighting. Here in the desert, and throughout the three-load game,

Is that a treasure chest lurking in the background of the desert caves? Could be! But Tusker has to battle with and defeat the nomad warrior before he can find out Tusker can find clues and maps taking him further into the lands of his quest. He'll need certain combinations of objects and clues to pass hazardous sections safely.

Prickly cacti, venomous snakes and the bizarre sand devils (small whirlwinds which spin Tusker around until his energy is depleted) are just some of the obstacles he has to overcome to progress any further.

Somewhere in the desert lies the entrance to sacred caves, and the scenery changes graphically to a damp blue and green atmosphere. Crocodiles lurk on the banks of the river which flows through this subterranean world and just beneath the water's surface waiting for Tusker to put just one foot wrong...

The deeper Tusker's adventure takes him into Africa, the stranger and more violent the undiscovered animal life becomes. You'll start to notice this in the third section where Tusker enters the jungle when defensive chimpanzees hurl coconuts from the trees and mad warthogs charge at an alarmingly fast rate with tusks so sharp they could rip Tusker in two with one direct hit!

The second multi-load part takes you into another jungle, previously unseen by any explorer. This area is a great swamp and half-evolved monsters roam the scenery. Just off the swamp is a cannibal village with all the horrors that brings. It is ruled by a crazed Witch Doctor who launches all kinds of black magic attacks, and his speciality is bringing piles of human bones to life to create horrific zombies. Add to that the Things prove difficult as Tusker enters the village: the evil witch doctor and his dark potions lurk.

Jungle trouble on the way for Tusker, this fight could be won as long as his energy bar is stocked up

Deeper into the hidden jungles of Africa and Tusker encounters a lost tribe of nomad warriors. Search the huts for useful objects to further the quest

The temple entrance: the end is in sight, but also the start of the most hazardous part of the whole expedition

Totem pole, spitting acid from its eyes, and Tusker is in one hell of a lot of trouble!

Remember — throughout this there are still maps and clues to discover! With Load Three Tusker nears the end of his quest. Starting in the icy mountain regions with huge Mount Kilimanjaro looming in the distance, he's in the land that time forgot, where dinosaurs stalk the ground. Although the Brontosaurus shouldn't give Tusker much hassle, preferring to stick to its diet of green vegetation, there are plenty of prehistoric creatures, like the pterodactyl, that will.

It's not only animals Tusker has to watch out for — man eating plants hungry for a meal can prove pretty deadly opponents. Here Tusker should find the final clues pointing the way to the temple which surrounds the Elephants' Graveyard. Inside the temple lie the treasures of mythology — all guarded by ancient traps which could spring to life the minute Tusker makes one foolish mistake.

If he survives that, his dreams are fulfilled; the entrance to the graveyard stands open. Just one thing to overcome now... the mighty guardian, a beast which takes its strength and power from the spirits of all the elephants which came to rest here. Surely not even Tusker can defeat such a powerful force. Or can he?

Find out when System 3 release Tusker, a graphic arcade adventure quest, at the end of September for £9.99 on cassette or £14.99 on disk.

WINNING CHASE TO XMAS

This is Nancy at Chase HQ, we've got an emergency here!

That's how the corky coin-op begins — how Ocean's conversion of the fab Taito arcade game starts is another matter, but you'll have to wait until Christmas to find out. Chase HQ is Ocean's great Christmas pressie to us all.

Say hello to New York City and a g'day to the two heroes: Tony Gibson and Raymond Brody. They're chasing the 'Idaho Slasher' in his flash white sports car heading towards the suburbs. Put your pedal to the metal and zoom off in hot pursuit. As you weave your way through the rush hour traffic, large red arrows point in the direction you should head to catch the evil maniac

Once you catch up with Slash the obligatory red flashing light is plunked on the roof of the car, the timer is extended (as in most racing games, you are battling against the clock), and the chase is on. You've got a nifty turbocharger — activated by a button on the gear lever — but it only works three times (obviously a second-hand car).

Reports from those who have played the nearly finished version say Chase HQ's already looking really neat, with a great sense of speed in the game. With many months to go until release, who knows how wonderful Ocean are going to make it!

NOW HE

This is Altered Beast, another Sega game Activision are converting onto the Speccy! If you've played the arcade version, you'll know it's the game featuring the world's silliest speech synthesis. At the start you hear a Command from On High, unfortunately it sounds like Elmer Fudd as he says 'Wise twom yaw gwave!!!'

And why should you 'rise from your grave'? Well, you play a dead gladiator (it gets better...) brought back to life to rescue your daughter from an evil sorcerer.

The quest starts in your graveyard, and the opponents are other dead creatures the sorcerer has brought to life to defend him. By picking up power-pills from albino wolves you can transform into a multi-powered werewolf (hence the title Altered Beast...)

Smashing combat action takes you through five different landscapes with zombies, winged demons and assorted grave guardians to defeat.

As you can see from the screen shots Altered Beast is packed with colour and looks like being as brilliant as Activision's corky coin-op of yesteryear, Karnov! Stay tuned and expect to see Altered Beast (£9.99 cass/£14.99 disk) in a couple of months.

GLASNOST NOT!

Cor! They know how to make 'em in the future, don't they? Meet Strider, the future's answer to James Bond. Despite the intergalactic warfare going on in space, things aren't too good on Earth either as battle still rages between East and West.

Strider being the West's number one agent, his mission is to retrieve KGB secrets from behind the Iron Curtain.

The Action starts in futuristic Moscow's Red Square where, before Strider has had time for even a snog or a Dry Martini, he's set upon by the KGB. Steroid-pumped musclemen attack with their entourage of red robots who both walk and and whizz through the air.

To defend himself Strider has gone away with the old Walther PPK in favor of a laser sword which he swings around in a deadly arc, wiping out any opposition that comes near.

But when the going gets tough, Strider goes a leaping and bounding through the scenery, hopping buildings, climbing walls to safety.

Strider's mission takes him off to the icy wastes of Siberia and down to the southern lowlands, where jungle tribes are ready for combat with poisoned darts to hurl at him. The final sequence is back in Moscow where Strider comes up against the Grand Master of the Red Army, a real rough muha if ever there was one!

The arcade version utilises Capcom's latest coin-op system to bring all the glorious graphics, animation and gameplay to life. If US Gold can transfer that all down to a Speccy, they'll be well away and have a sure-fire hit! Get hold of Strider in October, but don't show your Russian friends...

THE UNTOUCHABLE

No, it's nothing to do with lepers or dirt, but all about incorruptable justice, and bribes can't touch our sense of duty. It also looks like being another smash hit film lie-in from Ocean. The movie's on video, but for those of you who haven't got round to seeing it (like our editor), here's a ten second resumé:

The game's set in America in the 1920s, when alcohol was banned by the US under prohibition laws, and mobsters became hugely rich by illegally selling liquor to the public. Al Capone, the most famous and most feared gangster, boasted he ran Chicago city and many cops were bribed not to cross him. But here comes Eliot Ness, a tough cop who assembles an equally tough and incorruptable law force known as the Untouchables.

Spit into six sub-games the action begins in a warehouse where Ness, working on his own, and therefore with only one life, has to collect ten pieces of evidence from fleeing criminals. There's a fair old barrage of gun-fire about, but Ness can defend himself with different weapons collected from violin cases.

Next it's the spectacular bridge scene where the whole Untouchable team has been assembled; now you can flip between them (each with his own characteristics — the accountant is a lousy shot!). Criminals hide behind cars and you can use a telescopic sight to pick them off.

Then Ness is on the search for important documents on Capone. He has to make a rendezvous at a train station. On the way there he's ambushed and hides behind a wall. (Leaning out into the alley with his gun is the only way to blast the criminals, but it's best to first peep out to see what's happening.)

Manage to get to the railway station and you can take part in the unforgettable tram and slow-motion staircase scene. You know, where Ness is being shot at by all sides and a tram starts rolling down steep, marble stairs. Ness runs down, shooting the villains and drawing fire from the tram.

Of course, at the bottom of the stairs Ness is confronted by a man holding a hostage. As in the movie you need crackshot Stone to blast the baddie. While a little similar to the hostage scene in RoboCop, the addition of a massive gun with an animated hammer adds substantially to the game. The finale is a chase across the roof tops, in 3-d with Ness blasting a hoodlum firmly into the next life.

SHOUTS, NOW HE GROWLS

Programmed by James Higgins (coding) and Martin McDonald (graphics, and aren't they completely wonderful?) The Untouchables is expected to go on release in September, £8.99 on cassette.

PICTURE PUZZLES

Remember the Rolf Harris TV show where he would stop paint all over a canvas, and you had to guess what the mess was before he finished and sang a song about it?

Well, here's something akin to that idea. Called Pictionary — The Computer Game, it's set for release from Domark early October.

The game is about you being given a word (like 'Bunny Rabbit'), and you getting your friends to guess what it is by drawing it on computer with Domark's special graphics program. If you ain't got no friends, the computer draws the 'Bunny Rabbit' for you to guess! Neat, eh? Hours of fun for all the family!!! (So it says here...)

Nick's PLAYING TIPS

We're all going on a summer holiday. Well, to tell the truth, I've just come back off mine, and a mighty fine one it was too. Where do you think a writer on a top Spectrum magazine would go on his hols? Florida, South of France, L.A.? Actually it was a week in Great Yarmouth! I spent most of the time touching up my fan and stuffing 10ps into arcade machines! I could only afford to take a week off, because I had to get back to the office and write this month's instalment of tipping madness.

There is part one of my very own Rick Dangerous map, solutions to Thunderbirds, tips on Captain Blood and Crazy Cars II, plus much much more. This month's £40 of software winner is Jonathan Meller from Keyworth in Nottingham for his speed in completing Thunderbirds, well done Jon, a software voucher's on it's way to you. Well, what are you waiting for, get at them tips!

+3 PACLAND POKES

It's not very often I get a +3 disk POKE fall onto my coffee stained desk. In fact the last time it happened was in the Christmas Issue! Anthony Johnson of London has changed that though by sending in this POKE for Pacland on disk.

On into +3 basic and type...
25 POKE 35141,0
35 MERGE "DISK": RUN
Run the program with your Pacland disk in and you should have infinite Pacmen!

WHOLE NEW BALL GAME

Cor! It's the game on the cover of July's Issue. This little tippet has come from James McGrath of Parkhall, Clydebank and isn't exactly for the game.

If you notice on the main menu there is a little tree icon in the bottom right hand corner. Well, select this and put in these values for a very interesting tree indeed!

Tree Size. 15

THOSE PRECIOUS POKES ON TAPE

Go on, have an extra big helping of Pokemania! Yup, the new action packed Pokemania program is here and it's bigger than ever before. There are no less than 24 POKES for you to drool over, and a bonus program all from Graham 'TURBO' Mason. The extra program is a sound to light utility that will give a fantastic light show if you play one of your favourite tapes into your Speccy. Some of the POKES on the cassette you may recognise from last month, we put them on again just in case you missed them last time. Here is the full list...

CRASH SMASH COOLECTION VOL. 1

Compilation tips, hey? Sure are, and they have come from Paul McClenaghan of Solihull. These are of course for that ultra brill and triff compilation with the CRASH logo on the front. Only three of the games are covered here. If you have any more tips for the other games then send them in.

Spy Hunter

On the helicopter bit, if you don't have a missile wait until the helicopter is above you then swerve left, right, left, etc. Hopefully all the bombs the helicopter drops will miss the car, and you will be able to carry on up the road.

1. If you want to get lots of points for jumps/tricks etc, buy a new board. The most points are given if you jump and keep your finger on the left or right button. You should get 700 points.

2. Pads and helmet help you when you get knocked over. You will get up quicker.

3. Shoes make you kick faster.

4. On the ramp, hold down kick when going up and down. It should make you go faster and get you a nice shiny gold medal!

Bionic Commando

1. To kill the bad guy with a big gun, shoot him then push him back with your arm. Keep doing this until he is dead.

2. Don't touch the bee hives. Deadly killer bees come out if you do, and you don't really want to be stung now do you?

3. Kill the birds when they are on the trees.

4. To get rid of the cages shoot them about seven times.

RICK DANGEROUS

LEVEL 1.

CARRIER COMMAND

I don't know about being put in command of a carrier, I wouldn't like to be put in command of a rowing boat! Rowan Smith of Market Harborough isn't worried though, because he's sent in these tips for the game.

If you want to destroy the enemy carrier, these are the islands the enemy takes over first...

POSITION OF START	FIRST ISLAND ENEMY CARRIER TAKES OVER
Outcrop	Fulcrum
Fulcrum	Vatlland
Vatlland	Thermopylone
Taksaven	Outcrop

You will have to wait a while for the enemy carrier to appear, so put the stock pile on this island. While you wait you are able to collect more fuel, weapons, Manta, Walrus, virus bombs and assembler packages.

When the enemy carrier does appear, load one Manta with three rockets and a laser. When you are close enough, fire all the rockets and the laser at the carrier. You can keep firing until you are about to crash, then pull out. Keep on doing this until the enemy carrier is destroyed. You know when the enemy carrier is about to be destroyed, because it will start to move and turn around.

The best way to take over an island is...

1. Wait for the carrier to arrive.
2. Launch drones (it is best to put drones up front).
3. Launch Manta with three rockets and a laser.
4. Move ship forward.
5. Take control of Manta, and take out the rocket launcher which should be firing at you now (if you don't like what this island is making destroy the control centre too, it looks like a house).

6. Call Manta back.

7. Turn ship around so the Walrus departure area is facing the island.

8. Launch Walrus with virus bomb if control centre is there. Or assembler package if control centre has been destroyed.

9. Fire virus bomb into the slit at the back of the control centre, or drop the assembler package in an area where there is a lot of space (you must be in front of the slit to take over the island). Once the virus bomb or assembler package has been used, check the map to see if the island has turned blue. Move the stock pile to this island. The Walrus should be going back to the carrier. You should be able to collect more fuel. After every 2nd island move the stock pile to that island and wait to collect more fuel.

10. Call the Walrus back, recall drones and collect more fuel if there is any there.

11. Move on to the next island.

Do not take over the defence islands, as they are a waste of time, except for the start island which is always a defence island. Destroy the control centre here, then look to see what the next enemy island will be (resource, factory or defence). If it is factory, load the Walrus with a resource package. If it is resource, load the Walrus with a factory package. If it is defence, look for an island you own and is nearby and put the opposite of what the island is onto the walrus.

To take over the main enemy island, do the same as taking over a defence, resource or factory. Once you have taken the main island, you will have to take all the other enemy islands left.

Main Tips

1. When going to the main command centre, have a rough idea of which islands you want to take over (best to take out resource and factory islands). You do not need to take over every island, because it will give the enemy more time to make their new carrier. Once the control centre has been taken over, the enemy islands stop making things.

2. Use the time lapse when waiting for the weapons and fuel to come to the stock pile island, and when going from island to island to speed the ship up.

CHEAT MODE MOTEL

Cor, this weather is sweltering isn't it? The only good thing about it is the amount of tourists it attracts to this humble motel! We don't half get through some ice for all those cold drinks though. I suppose we could try sticking some of these cool cheats in instead, but I suppose you prefer yours straight!

Bedlam

When you've been killed, push the C key and you should be back where you left off, but with full lives. (Causing bedlam (ha,ha!): Greig Thomson)

Aqua Squad

On the scrolling message type SYMBOL SHIFT and C, then type 7265-49 for invincibility and infinite everything. (On the lawn: Chris Tennant)

Ko:smos

Superkid

Da, dda, daaa! No that wasn't me going mad, that was my Superkid impression. On this game type in G,D a and F on the title page to get the porizo of infinite everything. (On the deckchair: Graham Mascon)

Iron Soldier

Here's one for all you hard nuts out there (like me — Skippy), ehmm, not exactly! What you have to do is type G, A and D to earn yourself infinite everything once again. (In the paddling pool: TURBO)

Cerius

Feweel! This is a bit new like, innit? Multiface POKES that activate cheats in games, well, on this game you should POKE 65520,0 to get it. (Helping herself to the drinks (oil): Wendy Jameson)

Gunfighter

Another of those rare multiface POKEd cheats, this time you should POKE 65535,0 (Tucked up in bed!): E. Prestley)

Tank Command

POKE 65535,0 once again on this Atlantis game to activate the marvellous mechanical multiface cheat. (Reading CRASH: P. E. Tshopboys (is that Greek?))

Trantor

Here are all the codes for this Probe game... KEMPSTON, JOYSTICK, SPECTRUM, SOFTWARE, KEYBOARD, COMPUTER, CASSETTE, SINCLAIR, GRAPHICS, HARDWARE, TERMINAL, PRINTERS, CONTROLS, WARGAMES, WARRIORS and MEGAGAME. (Stormtrooping: Ashley Price)

Chicago 30s

When the game has loaded, push the pause key (H), then press numbers 1 to 9 in order. You should now have everlasting lives. (Attacking people with violin cases: Gary Henderson)

CAPTAIN BLOOD

It's that groovy game with the Jean-Michel Jarre music in it, innit? I haven't printed any real tips on this game yet because I've been saving them up. These are all from that Paul McClenaghan bloke again. Good on you Paul.

General Hints and Tips

- Icons that are blue (ie the dictionary) cannot be used.
- To find the whereabouts of other aliens say, "CODE INFORMATION HELP".
- Only disintegrate Numbers. Nothing is gained by killing other aliens.
- Teleport aliens onto a deserted planet to get more information.
- When Blood's hand starts to shake, absorb a Number as soon as possible.

- Only intelligent aliens have defence systems.
 - If you are not getting anywhere, threaten the alien.
 - Visit all aliens.
- Aliens
IZWALS - Know most words but are quite stupid (Yoko comes from the planet Bow Bow - not very helpful!). Their father, Maxon, is useful. Find him and ask him for the Sinox code.

CROOLIS ULVES - These are very warlike and will often double cross you. If they ask your name do not say Croolis Vareau, because they hate them.
CROOLIS VAREUX - These are absolutely useless. Trust them as far as you can throw them! They hate Croolis Ulves.
BUGGOL - He is very intelligent and can give you lots of information. He will tell you to vote for Morlock. He hates Yukas.
MIGRAX - This one is also very intelligent. He wants to travel, meet Ondoyante and go to the planet Mind.
TRAUMA ONDOYANTE - This one hates Blood (no, not the red stuff, silly!), and that's all the information here (oh... right).

ROBHEADS - These will give you information if you find a geneticist who will help them. Not very intelligent.

TORKA ONDAYANTE - This is Trauma's sister. She wants you to find her friend Tubular Brain. She also wants to reproduce with you (WHAT! Come on this is a respectable magazine).

ANTENNA - These are really, really stupid and not much help at all.

TUBULAR BRAIN - These speak mostly in numbers. Wait until the preset time before you can get anything from them. Then get straight to the point.
SINOX - He's very clever indeed. He will talk if given a code and can be very helpful.

KINGPAK - Kingpaks only understand a few words and are usually very dumb. They only want to race you, usually to Ondoya. As soon as you have the co-ordinates, break off the conversation and hyperspace there and back.

NUMBERS - Get as much information as possible from this one. The disintegrate the planet. They will the teleport.

CRAZY CARS

Broom, brrom, wurbel, acachoooooie! Sorry about that, the cars around Ludlow are simply nuts, bit like those Crazy Cars in this game (groan). Jason Smallwood doesn't have any trouble with the cars around Leeds, though, for it is he who's brought you these tips.

1. When in high gear and you need to slow down quickly, engage low gear. This means you don't need to concentrate on braking while trying to avoid something. It'll reduce your speed to 163mph.

2. When the police are in front of you, stay to one side of the road, then when you catch up with the police car swing over to the opposite side of the road. This will stop the police blocking your way.

3. If you crash, you may find a police car has caught up with you. If he is too near for you to accelerate to a high speed you may be arrested. To avoid this, gather speed and go off the road accelerating. Keep as close to the road as possible and get back on it as soon as you have passed the car.

4. Try not to crash near an exit, this may result in your car being placed on the road after the exit, or it may be placed on the wrong road altogether.

5. If you crash near an exit and have been placed on the wrong road, try to get on the road you want by going across the fields. If it is too far your car will explode!

6. Frequently pause the game and study the map.

7. Always keep an eye out for turn off prompts to ensure you are not going to miss your turn off, and so you know you are travelling in the right direction.

8. Usually police will patrol turn offs, but instead of overtaking them and missing your exit, slow down because the police car will not take the exit.

9. If you crash on a turn off the road you are entering may have a police car waiting for you. Use tip two again.

10. Do not start the game or a stage unless you know where your destination is, where to turn off and what route to take.

11. Use your rev counter when changing gear and accelerating. It's necessary when accelerating in a tip 3 situation, and it will help you accelerate quicker.

12. To slow off and amaze everybody with a 360° spin, speed up over 163mph, the faster the better, then drop into low gear, turn and break hard.

Here are some of the best routes to take... (R=right, L=Left, 999=highway number)
Montröse-Denver = 50/L285/R70
Denver-Cortez = 70/R25/R160
Cortez-Phoenix = 160/666/R40/189
Phoenix-Las Cruces = 89/R10
Las Cruces-Springer = 10/R25

GEMINI WING

That hot new shoot-'em-up from Virgin/Mastertronic has got passwords for each level, and CRASH is the first magazine to bring them to you. Now we don't want to spoil your enjoyment of the game so try to find the passwords yourself first.

Level 1: THESTART
 Level 2: EYEPLANT
 Level 3: WHATWALL
 Level 4: GOODNITE
 Level 5: SKULLDUG
 Level 6: BIGMOUTH
 Level 7: CREEPISH
 Level 8: FINALFXS

The game only has seven levels because the password to Level Eight is the end-of-game animated message (woof!).

THUNDERBIRDS

5, 4, 3, 2, 1, Thunderbirds are go! Or if you use these solutions from Jonathan Mellor of Keyworth in Nottingham, they will have definitely gone. Right, Brains, set a course for the planet CRASH, so that Jonathan can pick up his £40 of software.

Mine Menace

Alan - select grease gun and torch.

Brains - select lamp and anything that is left.

Start with Brains first, as you have to stop the mine from flooding and rescue the miners.

Select Brains, r, u, u, r, drop any object except lamp, pick up spanner, l, l, l, l, drop lamp, pick up hammer, r, u, u, r, use hammer by left side of lift, stand on lift, u, u, u, drop hammer, pick up detonator, stand on lift, u, u, r, use spanner in centre of machine, drop spanner, l, d, d, d, d, l, d, d, d, l, get lamp, select Alan, d, d, r, drop torch, get ladder, r, use ladder by hole, l, get torch, r, r, r, r, r, d, r, d, r, d, d, l, d, d, left into dark room, don't drop torch, use can on mine cart, l, l, l, mine cart will cover hole, r, r, r, r, r, drop grease can, pick up pneumatic drill, don't stand on old floorboards or it results in loss of energy, l, l, l, l, l, l, l, l, l, enter big lift, r, d, drop torch, pick up compressor cable, u, r, go past big machine, you should see wire following you, use drill on iron bar wall, r, r, stand on left side of miners in cart, select Brains, r, u, u, r, stand on lift, u, u, u, u, u, r, r, u, up any ladder, u, u, make sure you are carrying the lamp, as it is a dark room, l, l, d, drop detonator, u, r, r, d, d, d, get wire, up any ladder, u, u, l, l, d, drop lamp, get detonator, left until you touch the boulders with dynamite in them, r, l, l, d, l, l, congratulations... blah, blah! Now you must guide Brains all the way back to the Mole, r, r, u, r, r, drop any object and pick up lamp for dark room, u, r, r, d, d, d, d, l, l, stand on lift, d, d, d, d, d, l, d, d, r, r, d, d, l, congrats! Password for next mission is RECOVERY.

Sub Crash

Alan - select aqualung and radiation pills. Gordon - select can of shark repellent and American Express card. Raise submarine and shut down reactor.

Select Gordon, drop can of shark repellent, select Alan, use radiation pills, l, l, u, u, walk to captain, you will be given a blue code card, d, d, r, r, use lever, r, use lever, r, use lever, r, down hatch, use lever, r, use lever, r, stand by nearest console to door on lift, select Alan, l, d, use lever, l, use lever, l, use lever, l, down hatch hidden behind pink iron bar, you are now underwater, you move very slowly, use lever, don't use the middle lever in any room until told, l, use lever, l, fire torpedo if you want to by using the lever, it does nothing though, r, r, use lever, r, use lever, r, use middle lever, l, use middle lever, l, use middle lever, the water now should be all drained off, r, r, down hatch, use lever, r, use lever, r, use lever, r, l, l, l, walk onto hole in floor, you should now be on the sea bed, r, make sure you are carrying can of shark repellent, r, r, get yellow code card, l, l, l, walk to groon plant and you will be bounced into the submarine, use lever, l, use lever, l, use middle lever, r, use middle lever, r, use middle lever, u, the submarine should now be submerged sea, l, l, drop aqualung, get red code card, u, r, r, r, r, r, r, r, r, r, now both characters should be in the same room, so move Alan to the same console as Gordon which is the blue one, then select either character and press enter, which is the use key; x if you are both standing in the right place you will turn off the reactor. Try and have both of your characters mapping over each other, as the system is a dual key card system. After doing this you will have to return to Thunderbird 4. So Alan and Gordon will take the same route back, which is, l, l, u, l, l, l, u, r. Congratulations! Password for the next mission is ALOYSIUS.

More to come (hopofully)...

MULTIFACE MAYHEM

Here is a selection of Multiface POKES for your Spectrum to devour. The first are for Stormlord, the game that makes Navy Moves look like a stroll in the park, or so Lyndon Sharp says anyway. The Rebel Squad one is from Nik Hill who says "Hi" to his girlfriend Vik (oo-er!).

STORMLORD...

Infinite lives = 56877,0+34640,0
No clock = 58105,0
Every fairy tear is a life = 32657,0+32658,48

MICROPROSE SOCCER

Over 'ere, son, on me head! It's a few tips for the 11 and 6 a side games of Microprose Soccer (I wonder who that's by). The master footballer behind this is Ian Rush, no sorry it's Stephen George from Sutton Coldfield.

6-A-SIDE

■ The goalies can come out and score!
■ Hit the ball against the barriers, hopefully it will go over your head to one of your other players.
■ Go up to the other goalie, then turn back, go around him and score easily.

11-A-SIDE

■ Try to get a good kick off, make your way up to the edge of the box and kick. The banana shot will guide it in.
■ Start with Oman and work your way up, instead of starting with a hard team.
■ Come in from the side with a sliding tackle, this way you should gain possession of the ball if the opposition has control of it.
■ Go to banana power and press fire until it comes up with '+11'. This should do nicely. Practise on two minute games and build up your skills.

Once again we have reached the end of the line, and it's time to wave goodbye until next month. But if you think you can't stand being away from my tips (oo-er!) for that long, don't forget the POKES on cassette, and that faberony Hotline number with all the latest gossip on the tipping front, see page 50. Send all your excellent work to... Nick 'sticky' Roberts, Playing Tips, CRASH, PO BOX 10, LUDLOW, SHROPSHIRE, SY8 1DB.

Tengen Domark/Walking Circles ■ £9.99/£14.99

The Tengen arcade original of this was fantastic, so I was expecting something really naff in conversion, because usually, the more polished the arcade game, the less playable the conversion. But not so! This is the business!!!

The town which you police has more than its fair share of drug dealers, litter louts, damsels in distress and hookers. As Officer Bob, you have to deal with the problem! At the beginning of each day, the Police Commissioner issues you with the day's tasks, which naturally become harder as you become more proficient. The first day simply involves training by aiming your siren at traffic cones, but as the week wears on, the quota of arrests which you have to make increases.

Instead of losing lives, you collect merit points. Every time you crash, fail to pick up an arrest subject or make any other major misdemeanour, you clock one of these, up to a limit at which the game ends.

The baddies fall into two categories: the normal, run-of-the-mill baddies, like litterbugs, hitchers, dopers and honkers (that isn't Richard after a night at the Indian, by the way). These can be arrested by blasting your siren (represented by the cross-hairs in front of your car) at them, or in the case of hitchers and poor ladies whose cars have broken down (called Helps,

'coz that's what they shout) just by picking them up (or running 'em over!).

D a, da, da, daaa, da, da, daaa! Nope, it doesn't really work does it? Oh well, this is the computer version of that brilliant box office hit, Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade. This block buster of a film took $150,000,000 in the first ten days (that's nothing, I got that for last issue's reviews-Skipper).

The game tries to follow the film's plot but fails, the date for level one is set wrong. In the film nicking the Cross Of Coronado happens in Utah 1912, when Indy is a young boy. In the game Indy is grown up and there's no sign of his boy scout's uniform.

Indy has to collect different objects on four game levels. Level one holds the Cross Of Coronado, two a shield entombed under the library in Venice, in level three he has to rescue his dad's diary from the hands of the nasty Nazis, and on four he goes for the big one, the Holy Grail. It's action packed fun all the way.

Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade is full of digitised pictures from the film with great music. All the sprites and backgrounds are really big to give the ultimate in realism, and it works quite MIKE Nick really seems to like this, but I'm afraid I don't have the same enthusiasm; granted, it's got large and realistically animated graphics, and it's quite fun for a while, but after a couple of hours, it begins to wane. I haven't seen the film, so maybe that accounts for it. Colour could have been used a bit more effectively; the mono upper part of the screen is unstimulating, and the changing ink colour as you get deeper doesn't work. The packaging is slick, and I suppose the game is appealing if you're into the film, but I'm afraid I'm not a great fan of this sort of arcade adventure.

NICK 'Ello, 'ello, 'ello! What's going on here then? Well officer, it's that brilliant arcade game All Points Bulletin on the Spectrum, and what a fantastic conversion it is too. All the thrills and spills of the arcade machine are included, along with the animation sequences and jokes that made the original such a hit. The road layout, shops, buildings and cars are all detailed but monochrome, and the cartoony sections where Officer Bob gets praised or fired are great fun. Just to add that extra obstacle there's a railway line running right across the road with some lunatic train drivers! All the brilliant graphics, the sound track and effects will keep you coming back for more. A.P.B. is set to become a classic, you'll kick yourself if you miss it! 92%

Then it's a mad dash back to the station to question your prisoner, waggle the joystick to beat up the suspect (!?), but make sure you force a confession before the commissioner gets in! A.P.B. is an excellent conversion. It's fast and addictive, the scrolling is very quick, and the inbetween sequences are amusing and colourful. This is arguably one of the best Spectrum well.

Playing the game the first couple of times is really enjoyable, but the trouble is that once you've completed a level, it's pretty boring to go through it all again next time you play. That aside, this isn't a mere arcade adventure: level one keeps you on your toes by making you collect new torches to light your way. If you don't collect them, the screen darkens gradually, and you lose a life.

With so many large sprites on screen: at once the game has trouble with speed, but this doesn't spoil things much. I recommend this to anyone, brill.

Hewson/Designmaker ■ £9.99

MIKE This is a fairly basic maze game, I must say. The graphics are good and the presentation is slick, but the essential idea is...well a bit old, really! That said, Hewson have managed to make the best of a tired theme; all the playability imaginable in a maze game has been squeezed into this, which isn't an immense amount, but it'll do. Graphics are really appealing, and I think that makes the game a lot more enjoyable. 72%

Filppo, a small round creature who could easily pass as an orange in a crowd, is the star of the brilliant new game from Hewson, Maze Mania. As you might have guessed from the screen, the basic idea is that of Pacman, but before you start moaning, Maze Mania has got something different to offer. Instead of gobbling up dots Filppo uses his size-ten boots to flip over paving slabs.

Some slabs have a mind of their own and flip back, though another boot from Filppo usually does the trick. The game is split into 16 levels of maze, each with a different theme. Level one is made up of tubular bells, two is a vegetable garden, three - well, find out for yourselves!

Life would be easy for little Filppo if it weren't for the nasty aliens gliding around the mazes who aren't too keen on the citrus fruit vandalism. They bash poor Filppo at every opportunity. Another thing to avoid is a trip out to space. Black holes abound in the maze, and these need to be jumped. Luckily there are floating icons to help our hero, giving extra points or power to jump on the aliens and kill them.

The idea of Maze Mania may be a simple one, but it is totally addictive. Lightning reflexes are a must to get out of the tricky situations and jump the black holes. The graphics are neat, with plenty of colour in every maze (especially the garish vegetable patch level!), in fact so abundant it can be very hard on the old eyes after a while, but the jolly tunes and effects will take your mind off this. Designmaker have done an excellent job on Maze Mania. Get it for a simple but addictive arcade romp. 82%

TREBLE Champions

Challenge Software ■ £7.95

Football crazy, football mad! Have you ever fancied yourself as a football manager? If you have, you'll have probably bought games like this millions of times already. But those kind people at Challenge Software seem to think you need a new football managing program for your collection.

So what has Treble Champions got to offer that all the others haven't? See for yourself: four divisions of twenty teams, a non-league division, league tables, fitness training, coaching, midweek matches and the option to start in any division you fancy. Here is a detailed look at some of the more interesting features...

MIKE I have to admit to a bit of addictivity about football management games, or at least, six or seven years ago. What I'd like to know is how the bloke who wrote this persuaded anyone to market it. Once the first bit has loaded (it's a multi load folks!) you wait for hours for it to get on with the rest; it puts up that old 'please wait' sign while it initialises the variables and things. I don't think I've seen anything like this since 1984! There are NO special features to recommend it; it doesn't even have the endorsement of a popular footballing star (as if that made any difference).

NICK 35%

To make things more realistic the program only gives you a set number of hours a week for team management. This forces you to choose carefully what you do with your players. Keeping an eye on the team's financial situation is also an essential. Interest on the team's dosh is due once a week, and if your current account is overdrawn the directors will nominate players to be sold, by cancelling their contracts to make them available for transfer.

A number of options can be customised to your liking to give you more help in managing your team. You can choose to have auto results which changes the program so that it quickly goes through all the results; you can select any border colour; after ten matches you can save out the game to avoid battling up the league again, and there's the option to get a print out of anything, so you can easily refer back to your progress.

Despite all this, with endless football management games on the Spectrum market, I don't really see why Challenge Software thought we needed another. If you think this is for you, get it, but we've seen it before and a lot better.

STARGLIDER

Rainbird/Argonaut Software ■ £14.99/£17.99

Commander Herman Kruud is at it again. He never knows when to give up does he? After his Ergon flagship was destroyed in the original Starglider, he got a bit miffed and is now back to get revenge. This time he's taking no chances and has brought along a big space and land fleet to help him, plus he has a beam projector which is aimed at your home planet of Novenia.

Your mission is to sneak into the Ergon's planet of Apogee unarmed and destroy the beam projector before it is fully constructed. If you succeed the evil forces of Ergon in the galaxy will be set back by many years, but if you fail your home will be destroyed and the Ergons will march on and destroy every other planet and solar system to create universal domination.

You have been issued with a brand new patrol craft for this mission, the ICAFUS (Interplanetary Combat and Reconnaissance Universal Scout).

Starglider 2, as with most other Rainbird releases, comes with a novella that will probably take you a week to read before you start the game (and this only contains the story line). The packaging also contains a play guide and key list: all necessary reading before you start.

The graphics, of course, are vector style, similar to Empire Strikes Back and Starstrike, but Starglider 2 has something that the other games didn't have... You can zoom around on a planet to your heart's content, but if you get fed up just point your self up and accelerate. You soon break out of the planet's gravitational pull and zoom into space and off to another world. A word of warning though, go too near the sun and Icarus melts, and that's not a very pretty sight!

There is an excellent tune and plenty of effects to add to the atmosphere the 3-D it creates. Starglider 2 is an essential purchase if you are a fan of this type of flight simulation.

NICK 90%

RICHARD Starglider 2 is big, like really big. But then, so is space. Yes, with a bit of the known universe at your disposal, it's Starglider time again. It surprised me how different Starglider 2 is from the original — which was, essentially, a decent blaster. This sequel requires both some nifty trigger work and lateral thinking to solve the puzzles. Presentation is high, and the graphics are effective on planets and in space. Not a game to just pick up and play, but definitely one to tackle, persevere and enjoy.

Dragon Spirit

Tengen Domark/Consult ■ £9.99/£14.99

Imagine 1942 with the planes replaced by dragons and other such mythical creatures, and you've got Dragon Spirit in a nutshell.

The gorgeous and mightily bedable Princess Ailie has been kidnapped by the evil demon Zawell. Being one of the multitude of chappies wanting to get to know her a little better, you get yourself changed into a dragon, and set off after her.

Heading off along the vertically scrolling backdrops of prehistoric lands, waves of Zawell's evil creatures come in for the attack.

Starting off with simple fire power, you can accumulate loads more by bombing eggs and collecting the power icons which fly down the screen. Icons provide extra heads, (thereby increasing the number of flames shot at any one time) and bigger flames which can make you pretty invincible.

Once all his prehistoric minions are killed, the moment comes for you to take on the evil demon Zawell. A challenge indeed!

Dragon Spirit is very difficult. Like a lot of other games of this type, the monochrome screen display makes it hard to see what's being shot at you, and consequently, there's a lot of unexplained deaths. Still, if you can adjust the telly so that you can almost see what's happening, then it's quite fun.

A more important negative though, is the problem that vertical scrolling shoot 'em ups have been around for far too long as it is, and something more than a change of sprites is needed to revitalise the genre.

MIKE 65%

NICK Dragon Spirit's conversion to the Spectrum has worked really well. The game has kept all it's slick presentation, graphic elegance, and still has brilliant sound. The only trouble is that it's really hard to play. You may think you're the expert at shoot 'em up games, but you haven't seen this yet!

The idea of playing a dragon that can collect extra heads, powers and a whole host of other interesting things is brilliant and the presentation simply puts other games to shame. Of course the concept of having a main character, be it a space ship or dragon, scrolling over a detailed landscape shooting things isn't new, but you can't seem to get enough of it! Gemini Wing

Virgin/Sales Curve/Random Access
■ £8.99

Gemini Wing is probably the first computer game to go healthy. We all know it is better to eat organically, but is it better to shoot 'em up organically too? You man a small ship that has to fly over seven levels of organic excitement with a mission to kill Mutant Alien Scum, who try their best to smash into your ship (ouch!).

Being the hard person that you are, you could probably kill all the alien enemies with a single laser gun (or a secret store of rubber bands like Skippy has... ping, ouch!), but the Gemini Wing ship is capable of much more than that.

You can collect gunballs from the aliens you liquidise to give the Wing extra fire power. These gunballs do all sorts of extremely catastrophic things to the poor aliens, like blasting a three way fire ball, an alien seeking missile, a spiralling circle of destruction, and the dreaded windscreen wiper of death, the subject of many nightmares on planets far, far away. They also give extra lives and points.

All this plot sounds so exciting I think my Spectrum is going to explode (puft!). The only trouble with Gemini Wing is that you can't see it (Eh?!). The organic backgrounds are detailed, the aliens are detailed and the ship is... well not so detailed, but put them all together coloured with the same monochrome and you simply don't know what's going on half the time! Though there are colour highlights on the explosion effects.

Different mega weapons are a good idea (even if it's been done before), especially the windscreen wiper of death, but there's a lack of playability. Decent sound effects and tune do a good job to rescue the game, but it's not enough. Gemini Wing holds nothing new, so check it out only if you are a shoot 'em up lover, or disappointment may be yours.

NICK 65%

MIKE Not another! Vertical scrolling shoot-'em-ups are all well and good... at least, they used to be. This isn't. The tune on the title screen is pretty good, but that doesn't really make it worth the asking price. The graphics are too small, and the colouring is awful; yet another example of 'invisible enemy syndrome'. It's just another shoot 'em up, and as such there's no real reason to buy it. If Gemini Wing was more original, and the colour plan thought out slightly better it would be great — but these two flaws really knock it down.

Nothing is obvious in the game. It just happens — like real life. You are lead into its events very subtly, not knowing what horrors await you until you realise you have turned Psychic Detective!

Written using PAW (Professional Adventure Writer, Gilsoft), the attention to detail and the program's parser is excellent, the graphics fairly simple but atmospheric. And, surprisingly for a PAW game, you are offered a high level of interaction between Marcus and other villagers.

Polearn is a good traditional ghost-story adventures, and should not be confused with CRL's many gothic horror schlockers. It's fascinating, beautifully constructed and must rank as one of the best Spectrum adventures for ages.

Polearn will not be nationally released and distributed until other versions are complete. However, if you want to be one of the first to play Polearn, the game is available direct from Sheol Software themselves at Central Works, Peartree Lane, Dudley, West Midlands B15 2QU. Unfortunately, it's a 128k game only, and the version reviewed here is for 128k plus 2. A two-part plus 3 disk-based version is under development, and it's best to write to Sheol for full details.

The ancient gods are having a bit of a problem: Something called Christianity. Hordes of people are leaving their temples to worship this newfangled Jesus bloke instead. Desperate to win back public support, chief god Zeus decides to give all fellow gods a task each, something to impress the little people. Guess who gets to show off first? Yep, you, Poseidon, the god of the sea, who can't swim (ha, ha, neither can Skippy — Nick)

(at least I fit in the piggin' swimming pool, matey — Skip).

You're whisked off to the gates of the Underworld armed with the usual adventuring tack: trident, shield, tunic and skirt (!), plus the obligatory note explaining the task facing you: Basically, just to nick the Helmet of Invisibility from Hades. Push over, eh?

Actually, it turns out to be a bit more difficult than that. The problems are solvable, but far from easy. You need a devious mind to work some out. It's a text only game, and the it strikes an excellent balance between atmosphere and amusement. Author Paul Findley keeps enough sense of 'being there' to make the game lastable, as well as plenty of humour to make it enjoyable.

Myth is destined to be a classic. It's funny, cunning and addictive. Being free to members of Official Secrets, I suppose, theoretically, it has to be worth more than 100% for value! The only thing I'm wary about is the size; it's proclaimed as a 'mini-adventure', although I've been playing it for three days solid, and there's no sign of an end. Still, along with Fish, this is the most enjoyable adventure I've played. I suggest all adventuring fans sign up with Official Secrets pretty quickly!

MIKE How's about this for a dire game? The storyline is fantastic; 'the monsters are on the loose... to cause chaos... to inflict terrible destruction!'. Honestly, it's not exactly original, is it? It wouldn't be so bad if Aaargh! brought some terrific new feature to the games playing world, but it doesn't. At budget price, it might just make the grade with average addictivity. Kiwis decide on a plan of action — leg it!!! But alas, Wally scoops them up and takes them back to his frozen apartment far away. Aw!

Now this would be the end of story if one kiwi, Tiki, hadn't escaped from Wally's clutches. A kiwi isn't too hot when it comes to unarmed combat, but aa everyone knows, they're pretty good archers, and so with beak, bow and arrow, Tiki vows revenge and sets off to rescue his mates.

Wally's many followers are a wild and crazy bunch with wild and crazy habits: stars which multiply by showing their tonsils (ugh!), bears floating around on hover pods, snails with missiles under their shells, penguins on geese, bats on balloons. Strange things are happening here, but to even the odds Tiki can arm up with bombs,

LICENCE TO KILL

Domark ■ £9.99/£14.99

This is rather topical, seeing as I only managed to see the film last night! And a jolly enjoyable flick it was too, probably the best Bond yet, I think. And this has absolutely no connection with the fact that Talisa Soto (drooooo!) is in it. Oh no, we don't fancy her at all!

The plot is simple (that's not new for a Bond film!): evil drugs baron Sanchez kidnaps Bond's mate Felix on his wedding night and does him in. Bond gets all strop-py about this, and goes after Sanchez, much to the annoyance of M, who revokes his Licence to Kill. What follows is predictable enough: two fast and furious hours of Bond gunning for Sanchez.

As usual with film tie-ins, a selection of the better action scenes make a multi-stage arcade game. In this case, we've got three scenes subdivided into individual parts. In part one of the first scene you must blast Sanchez's jeep from your helicopter. Then it's out of the chopper, and foot slogging, dodging your way through the scenery shooting baddies as you go.

To top off load-one, Bond is lowered by rope from the helicopter, and has to get a lasers, fireballs, even steal a spaceship and wreak havoc aplenty.

Wally's minions aren't the only trouble around though. Spikes can do more than ruffle Tiki's feathers, running out of oxygen when scuba diving isn't nice, and neither is getting a prod from a horned devil for time wasting. Even the level itself can be a maze, but if he follows the arrows Tiki should reach one of 20 mates. Alternatively, there are warps to find and jump into—who knows where Tiki will go?

Even with all that firepower, Tiki's really in it deep when he meets up with the Guardians of each region at the end of every fourth level. Frozen whales and a mega-octopus are just two of the delightful souls wanting to meet Tiki, along with Wally himself, waiting in his balloon on the final Ice cool level. Make sure you pack your winter woolies, Tiki!!

Sure enough, Ocean have come up with another sure-fire hit. The conversion of New Zealand Story is top-notch, with accurate character graphics, plenty of sound and masses of addictive playability. There's only one snag, and that's the multi-load which is a tad awkward on the cassette version, so if you have a plus 3, you're recommended to buy the disk version. But, whatever you do, don't be put off by the multi-load. Once you're into the game, you'll forget all about it as you're swamped in the cutest, addictive game around!

RICHARD 90%

NICK This cute game has the appealing characters and catchy jingles of Bubble Bobble, with the platform and general looks of something like Super Mario Bros. A recipe for total addictiveness, I think. All the sprites are excellent with great animation, and the different ways Tiki Kiwi can get about (balloon, under water snorkle, etc) add even more playability. There are a variety of mean creatures to be avoided, like malicious rabbits and blood sucking bats, plus different weapons to collect. The New Zealand Story is an arcade conversion masterpiece, get out there and give Wally Walrus one from me!

NICK This block busting James Bond game should be renamed Licence To Make The Player Jolly Mad! It's well put together, and all the graphics and sound are what we have come to expect from Domark, but it's just too hard for the likes of me. I could just about manage to get through the first bit, but was then confronted with a tiny stick man to represent me and miles of gun blasting enemies to wade through! The later levels are really good, with James swimming after speed boats (wool!), and a dare devil truck race. There's great playability to be had in Licence To Kill, but you're going to have to be a pretty hot gamesplayer to get at it (is Nicko admitting his failings?—Ed.).

low rope onto the tail of Sanchez's plane.

Scene two happens at sea, with some vertically scrolling swim-'n'-shoot-'em-up action. Like the movie, the final stage is where the tanker trucks go hurtling along the mountain road in the escape from the drug factory, Bond doing his best to stop them.

It's all jolly good clean fun (say no to the evils of drugs, kids!). The graphics are good, and there's plenty of variation, though the game is a bit tough. It's good to see someone not making a complete mess of a fairly good licence for a change!

Licence To Continue, Domark.

BUDGET

A veritable mixed-bag of budget offerings this month, and who better to deal with them than our resident mixed-bags Nicko, Richard and Mike (who is in a grumpy mood as usual and hates every game he plays).

PRO POWER BOAT SIMULATOR

CodeMasters ■ £2.99

Another simulator from the masters of code (or so they say). This time they try their hands at power boats, with huge outboard motors, racing at high speed. You can pretend to be James Bond and jump over roads, dodge deadly mines and blow up other boaters (even though 007 has nothing to do with the game!).

This is all really good fun and packed full of addictive qualities. Between each action packed level of obstacle course, bonus levels where you have to steer your boat through as many gates as possible allow you to collect points, very hairy on later levels! You would think that this is where the difficulty of the game ends, well I'm afraid not!

Those fun seeking programmers have made things even harder by adding a night level! It's really the same as other levels, but the landscape is blacked out except for the immediate area around the boat (aaargh! I'm going to crash!).

All the sprites and backgrounds are excellently done in true CodeMasters style, and sound is of a similar standard. There are two boats to choose from for even more variety, and they animate really well. The only annoying thing is the lack of a password type facility.

The trouble with games like this is once having worked out how to complete the early levels, it's boring having to restart, but there you go. I recommend this to every true arcade gamer - truly exhilarating!

RESCUE ON FRACTALUS

Mastertronic Plus ■ £2.99 (rerelease)

The Jaggies are evil and have taken over the planet of Fractalus to use as a stronghold. A fleet of highly trained Space Pilots were sent out to try and stop the Jaggie evil but failed, and now some of them are stuck on the planet. What can they do to get out of this terrible predicament? Your rescue mission is their only hope.

You're severely hampered by the sophisticated and highly dangerous Jaggie defence system out to zap the ship you are flying in: some real hassle!

You sit, looking through the cockpit of the ship, and have to steer over the planet to find the captured pilots in a very Captain Blood type style. The only difference between this and Captain Blood is that Blood has decent graphics, and this hasn't.

An excuse for the bad graphics could be that the game was originally released in 1986, and they were 'very jerky, but with a good fractal technique' back in Issue 33. By today's standards the layout of the game is very basic, and this may put off many of you. Sound effects are sparse, only tiny beeps for shooting effects.

Unless you want to take a trip back in time to play a game considered not suited to the Spectrum, steer well clear of this.

WULFPACK

Blue Ribbon ■ £2.99

Budget game inlays rarely go to great lengths to explain their games, but Wulfpack is very poor. 'Use your skill to ascertain the location of the U-boat', it says. How?! Are we expected to interface robocop-style into the computer to find out where the sub is? Or do we just guess?

Wulfpack is set in a WW2 scenario; essential supplies from America aren't getting through to Europe, because the container ship convoys are being wiped out by the Nazi U-boats. You take command of a naval destroyer to stop them! Each time a container convoy gets to port, you get closer to the required total; each time a U-boat manages to destroy a convoy, that total increases.

Get close enough to a U boat, and the depth charge screen comes up; guess how deep the U-boat is and fire a charge accordingly. When you run out of charges, you must return to port for more. When the convoys eventually succeed in getting the supplies through, you go on to the Allied invasion of occupied Europe on D-Day to aid the naval bombardment and beach landings.

If that sounds boring, it is. Wulfpack is very dull; little skill is involved in the first part, and hence, it gets very annoying when things go wrong for no particular reason. Another very poor offering.

HI-Q QUIZ

Blue Ribbon ■ £2.99

Hello Trivial Pursuit! And not necessarily welcome back, either. This offering from Blue Ribbon is very similar to Trivial Pursuit, but without the polish or playability. You get four question headings: Sport, Science, History and Geography, and Art and Entertainment.

A maximum of four players move around the board answering a preset number of questions on each subject. The number is determined by the skill level (1 to 4), and each player's current status shows in their corner of the board.

Hi-Q's potential appeal is a bit difficult to pin down. The questions are too difficult to make it a late night too-drunk-to-dance game; what self respecting party animal is going to know what sport uses the term Atchilli (the answer's Ja-Al-Jal)!

The screen display is too colourful and generally unattractive. If you're set on collecting trivia games, go ahead and buy this one, on your head be it.

CANYON WARRIOR

Mastertronic ■ £2.99

What makes a shot 'em up a definite commercial success? There must be some reason for the sheer number of mediocre ones on the market these days! Canyon Warrior is nothing special, although it does have one nice innovation.

Gameplay is about as predictable as possible; fly up the vertically scrolling landscape shooting the aliens and picking up the extra weapons, and blast the fat

TURF-FORM

Blue Ribbon ■ £2.99

If you're one for the horses, this latest little program from the Bluebird stables (and we mean little, it only takes up about 15K of memory!) could be for you.

Turf-Form asks you a number of questions and gives you a choice of race tracks, having answered them, it'll tell you whether your chosen horse will win the race or not. Magic! Well not quite, the program looks at the horse's past history, fitness and the conditions of the track, and makes a guess.

The program will predict form for both Flat and National Hunt races on UK racecourses. All the information you need to feed into the program can be found in almost any of the alien to get on the next level, where the process is repeated, and so on until you get to the fourth, at the end of which is the extra 'ard alien mothership. Yawn.

The nice bit is the map editor which allows you to play around with the first three levels. This feature is particularly handy when Nick goes out to make the coffee; we remove all the nasties and get a fab and generally characteristic high score, then put all the alien gun turrets we can fit onto the first level so Nick can't play it (as if he could play it anyway!). Ho ho. Anyway, that's about the most appealing thing about Canyon Warrior. The rest of it is the proverbial old hat.

SYNTAX

Blue Ribbon ■ £2.99

Syntax? Where did they get that name from! Earth is once again in great peril. Rebel forces, for twenty years bent on popping the planet Syntax.

Their plan is to use the planet's molten core to fuel a new weapon, a computer controlled sub-atomic disintegrator (oh no, not one of those!). Banging away building this weapon brings them to the notice of earth authorities, and now volunteers are needed to go and stop the rebel plan...

Stupidly you volunteer to go on this suicide mission, and now you're stuck with it. You must go to the planet and find the ten crystals which will save earth from certain doom.

What Syntax boils down to is one of those scrolly, over detailed background shoot 'em ups: totally confusing, especially when it is all in monochrome. The game is put together really badly and full of stupid programming mistakes. You might get some enjoyment out of this if you are a glutton for punishment, otherwise look elsewhere.

SPOOKED

Players Premier ■ £2.99

It's a tough life in the ghost extermination business. It isn't all driving at high speeds through the city and crying 'Who ya gonna call?' you know! You take on the role of an exterminator in Spooked, but on this mission the ghosts are out to get their own back.

It all starts when you get a weird phone call: the bloke on the other end asks you to go to 225 Pine Road (sounds harmless enough). When you get there you find that it's smack in the middle of a site of many killings (gasp!), but not wanting to be called a chicken you go in anyway. It's a trick: the ghosts phoned you up and are now ready to exterminate you!

The game idea is to collect bugs, like beetles and flies, to swap for various spells. Use these spells to kill ghosts and get out of the house. If you run out of time a hangman board builds up, and once you have collected the right spells you have to play a game against the spooky old man.

Spooked is unbelievable fun. The programmers have done a great job with silky smooth animation, plenty of colour and sound, and excellent ghosts and backgrounds. They've even thought of the inexperienced player and included a scaredness rating which makes the game easier the more scared you get!

One moan is the viciousness of the skeletons and ghosts: it can get very annoying when they repeatedly knock you over. The hangman game may seem simple, but here's betting you've never played it like this before! Buy Spooked today.

Overall 86%

ATTENTION! Excuse this interruption, Richard here: There's been a two week on-going argument over this next game — Planet 10. Mike thought it wasn't much cop, while Nick and I were hooked. So we mucked his review about to give you both sides of the story.

PLANET 10

Mastertronic ■ £2.99

Oh dear, oh dear. I want everyone to understand, I'm not giving this game a bad review because it's unoriginal and ancient (only because you can't play it). No, only because it's rubbish (No, it's addictive and frustratingly enjoyable!).

Bad enough that Pacman maze games died over five years ago (Planet 10 takes over from the equally fun Pac Land and PacMania, it's like the next logical step really), this one isn't even playable (actually, it becomes very playable when mastered).

Basically, it's a 3-D version of move around the maze eating the pills and avoiding the monsters. The forward view graphic is attractive enough (smooth and good are equally useless; the monster map is much too short ranging (Only if you're paranoid; you can see the monsters in plenty of time to take evasive action and head off down another corridor), and the maze map is ridiculously small (okay, so it's small, but the maze display is fine, and though it doesn't indicate monsters, you can see yourself perfectly clearly).

Mastertronic have tried to take a long-since dead game format and resurrect it. Unfortunately, they've only managed to cremate it. Unplayable and boring. (Ignore him — We played Planet 10 for ages. It is slightly difficult, but it only takes some practice to learn the best route and you're well away. Thoroughly enjoyable and highly addictive!!)

Overall 26% (79%)

perspective), especially the bold and bright monsters, but it isn't possible to play a good game of Pacman when you can only see what's in front of you (Wrong! You can do a back flip and instantly see what's behind you).

The other two displays, the monsters and the maze maps
